

Why automated assessment is a dead end? Hans Georg Schaatum, NTNU

Abstract:

Assessment takes a lot of resources, and automation is tempting, or even necessary, keep up the production volume of grades and diplomas. However, it is easy to forget to ask what learning outcomes we can assess automatically and what learning outcomes are relevant for the diploma.