

Craving sex?

Are you sure the other person is equally into it?

Engaging in any sexual activity with someone who doesn't want to is abuse. But how can you know if someone doesn't want to?

They brush it off as a joke

They become silent

They avoid eye contact

They change the subject

They tense up

They pretend not to understand

They make excuses

They physically withdraw

How do you say no?

Respect the signals you receive.

Don't be a red flag
